Shrikar Nag

CO-FOUNDER & CEO, TYMELINE | AUTHOR

AI capability. Human authority.

Shrikar Nag builds and writes about artificial intelligence, organizational execution, and human agency. At Tymeline, his current focus is connecting commitments, decisions, and evidence across complex engineering programs. He is the author of The Dystopian Mind: From Fire to AI: The Pattern Behind Every Human Revolution.

CONVERSATIONS TO BRING TO YOUR AUDIENCE

When AI acts, who is accountable?

For leaders and AI teams: distinguish a recommendation from a commitment, define who can approve it, and retain the evidence behind the decision.

The work between the tools

For engineering and program leaders: make handoffs, dependencies, and acceptance conditions visible when a delivery promise changes.

When the future stops feeling strange

For a wider audience: a discussion drawn from The Dystopian Mind about technological change, everyday habits, and human agency.

FORMATS Fireside conversations, technical and leadership panels, podcasts, and an adaptable talk with a practical worksheet demonstration.
